DESPERATE ATTEMPTS ARE BEING MADE TODAY TO SAVE PEACE; BRITISH AIDE FLIES TO BERLIN

Both Parties Face 'Draft' Necessity; Wagner Refuses

U. S. Senator Says He Would Accept Only Renomination to Senate—Dewey Keeps His Own Counsel

'Purge' Issue

Republicans to Make F.D.R.'s 'Purge' an Issue in State Election Drive

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—The necessity of both major parties in New York using the "draft" to get their strongest candidate for governor increased today on the eve of conventions that will set the stage for a new test of President Roosevelt's strength in his home state.

Announcement by U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner (D., N. Y.) that he would accept only renomination to the Senate spurred Democratic leaders to new efforts to persuade three-term Governor Herbert H. Lehman to run again despite his candidacy for the United States Senate.

Continued silence of Manhattan's racket-busting Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey as to his attitude toward a gubernatorial nomination convinced Republican chieftains that they must draft him.

Republicans, who already have indicated they will make the President's attempted "purge" of conservative legislators a campaign issue, meet at Saratoga Springs on Wednesday and Thursday and the Democrats at Rochester on Thursday and Friday.

Both will nominate complete state tickets including two United States Senators and two congressmen-at-large for the November 8th election.

Dewey's make no secret they believe Lehman and Wagner are the strongest opponents for Dewey, whose political career was launched in 1935 when Lehman named him a special prosecutor.

Persistent reports from Washington indicate that the President's choice for the party's standard bearer is Rep. James M. Mead of Buffalo, ardent New Dealer and, like Wagner, a friend of labor.

Should the "draft Dewey" movement fail, Rep. Bruce Barton of New York city, who built "key-note" the Republican convention is a possibility for the gubernatorial nomination.

State Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., former state American Legion commander, is expected to make a floor fight for the nomination should any other candidate but Lehman be elected.

Republicans who have not elected a governor since 1920 when Nathan L. Miller won in the landslide that sent Warren G. Harding to the White House, also are considering State Senator Thomas C. Desmond, long an administration critic.

Lack of definite agreement among leaders on gubernatorial candidates necessarily left other state ticket places uncertain.

Republican possibilities include state Senator Frederick H. Bontecou, Poughkeepsie; state Assemblyman James J. Wadsworth, Livingston county; and state Regent John Lord O'Brien, Buffalo, for lieutenant-governor, and state Senator Benjamin Feinberg, Saratoga county.

On the Democratic side, the belief prevails that the present state ticket would remain—with possible exception of Lieutenant-Governor M. William Bray—If Governor Lehman runs again.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $1,458,485,588.58; expenditures, $2,075,322,011.09; including $22,373,020.91 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $619,846,422.56; gross debt, $38,380,672,102.92; gold assets, $13,601,547,757.64.

U. S. Embassy Asks All Americans to Leave

Paris, Sept. 26 (AP)—The American embassy in Paris today advised all American citizens to return to the United States, if they were able to do so.

The embassy said: "The American embassy today is addressing the following notice to American citizens residing in France."

"In view of the complicated situation prevailing in Europe it is considered advisable to recommend that American citizens who have no compelling reasons to continue their sojourn here arrange to return to the United States."

Americans already have begun the exodus. Steamship lines of neutral countries running boats from France to America said they had a rush of applications for passage.

One line said everything was sold out for the next two weeks' sailings, another that only some third class accommodations remained.

Travel agencies were swamped with persons investigating sailing facilities.

Cahill Dismisses Morrello Today on Abduction Charge

City Judge Finds Fine Street Man Not Guilty—Miss Wolf Says Morrello Hit Her, Assaulted Her

John Morrello, 26, of 150 Pine street, was found not guilty of the crime of abduction of Miss Jennie Wolf, of 182 West Pierpont street, with which he was charged, following a hearing this morning before Judge Matthew V. Cahill, and he was discharged by the court.

To avoid embarrassment for the girl, the hearing was held in the judge's private office with Attorney Andrew J. Cook appearing for Morrello and Assemblyman J. Edward Conway for the district attorney's office.

Miss Wolf, who is 19 years old, told her story and said that on the afternoon of September 15 she was standing on the corner of John and Fair streets waiting for one of the city buses to take her home, when Morrello drove up in his car and offered to take her home.

She claimed that she at first refused to go with him but later she accepted his invitation to drive her home. She said that instead of driving home Morrello drove her out to Glenside, where he assaulted her.

She claimed he struck her in the jaw and manhandled her before he assaulted her. The only other witnesses who testified was the girl's uncle, who said she came home crying and was hysterical and complaining of what happened to her. Dr. C. B. Van Gansbeek testified to examining the girl a few hours after the alleged assault, and had found marks on her jaw and also on her body.

Morrello did not testify in his own behalf. Judge Cahill based his decision on the lack of corroboration and insufficient evidence to warrant the charge of abduction.

Rebel Drive Stalls

Benavides, France (AP)—The Spanish frontiers, Sept. 26 (AP)—Bad weather and strong government resistance appeared today to have stalled the insurgent effort to reconquer the Ebro salient in eastern Spain. Government and insurgent communiques agreed the front was quiet.

Four Children Burned

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 26 (AP)—Four children were burned to death about 2:30 a. m. today when fire destroyed a house 12 miles southwest of Grand Rapids. The victims were Doris, 10; Anna, 8; William, 6; and Josephine, 4, children of Roscoe Hazelton, a millwright.

Diphtheria Clinics

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, stated today that another in the series of free clinics for the prevention of diphtheria would be held Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock at the city hall. He urged parents who desired to have their children immunized from the disease to bring them to the clinic at that time.

Kouhout Discharged

Frank Kouhout, 31, of 43 Ravine street, was arrested over the week-end on a warrant sworn out by his wife, charging her husband with failing to support her. This morning after a conference with husband and wife Judge Cahill discharged Kouhout.

Map of Hitler's Czech Claims

This map, obtained from Czech sources and radioed from London to New York, is the map that accompanied the final memorandum of Chancellor Hitler to Prime Minister Chamberlain regarding German claims to the Sudeten territory of Czechoslovakia. The unshaded area between the Czech border and the black line within is that which Hitler demands outright by October 1, and areas shaded are those in which he demands that plebiscites be held before November 25.

Miss O'Carroll Hurt in Crash

Boiceville Woman Injured at Highland Saturday Evening on New Viaduct

Miss Kathleen O'Carroll of Boiceville was injured early Saturday evening in a two-car crash on the new viaduct at Highland where two strips of the new concrete were opened for traffic.

Miss O'Carroll suffered an injury to her leg and a possible fracture of ribs. She was a passenger in the car of Katherine Morrison of Boiceville whose car and that of Virgil Marshall of Walden slid-swiped on the viaduct.

The accident happened as the cars were about to pass going north. Versions of the accident vary and State Trooper L. Baker who investigated was told by one party that the accident happened as one car attempted to pass the other just as the first car attempted to pull out of line to pass a third car which was also traveling in the same direction.

As both the Morrison and Marshall cars pulled out to pass the car ahead road machinery obstructed other lanes of the viaduct the car crashed. The third car in the lead was not involved in the accident.

Marshall was accompanied by his wife and two children. No arrest was made.

Body Still Sought

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—State Police divers continued today their efforts to extricate the body of an army airplane pilot killed last Friday in a crash into a marsh near here. A section of the hip and parts of the head were recovered yesterday after divers located the body buried deep in mud and clay. The pilot is believed to be Captain M. C. Harper, who left Albany Friday for Mitchell Field, L. I.

Hopkins Says 'Need Is Great'

WPA Chief Flies Over Stricken Area

Boston, Sept. 26 (AP)—Rehabilitation of hurricane and flood scarred New England moved forward today as the death toll mounted to more than 425 and authorities estimated damage at nearly $200,000,000.

After a survey of areas which felt the explosive force of last week's storm, Harry L. Hopkins, National Works Progress Administrator, conferred with regional assistants and governors of the sorely stricken states on a reconstruction program.

Upon returning from an airplane flight over Rhode Island and Connecticut and a motor inspection of towns of Massachusetts' Buzzards Bay, Hopkins said:

"It is not a question of individual requests for government funds. It's a question of need and the need is great. From what I've seen I would say the situation is very bad."

Trucking Strike Hits Manhattan; No Bronx Buses

School Children Are Deprived of Transportation; LaGuardia, Back in City, Tries to Solve Situation

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Mayor LaGuardia sought a speedy settlement of the city-wide truck strike today as the first effects of the walk-out left 3,500 Bronx school children and a smaller group in Manhattan without bus transportation.

Union officials and representatives of the operators conferred with the mayor at city hall. Along with the announcement from New Jersey that 15,000 truck drivers were called out on a similar unrelated strike in that state, came word from Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, that his organization would support the New York strike.

Ryan said that if truckmen came to any piers for cargo not on the exempt list, which includes newspaper, hospital supplies and foodstuffs, the freight would not be delivered.

Michael J. Cashal, international vice president of the Teamsters Union, estimated that about 15,000 truck drivers were on strike.

The Bronx and Manhattan school children are transported to school daily in buses paid for by the city. About 1,000 of the Bronx children are crippled and those in Manhattan attend a special school for the deaf and dumb.

Drivers of the buses went to the garages, noted pickets there and decided not to cross the picket lines.

Police patrolled the west side waterfront today, but few trucks were moving save in the vicinity of the two systems.

City Men Working

The Board of Public Works, assisted by men from the WPA have been working day and night cleaning up the streets and removing fallen trees. Work was continued all day Sunday and was continued today.

A group of men employed by the city are making a tour of the city investigating and checking the ravages of the hurricane. The record has not yet been completed, but this morning showed that 120 trees which were blown down on the city streets have been removed. In addition the investigation shows that so far 178 trees have been found that were affected by the storm. This does not include the large number of trees felled in the city's parks.

In addition there are a large number of trees that were blown down or left in dangerous condition on private property. The number has not been checked as yet.

Henry Marshall Dies

Cambridge, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Henry Marshall, 91, former state senator and assemblyman, died here Saturday night.

Britain's Parliament Is Summoned To Meet Wednesday; Wilson Takes Message From Chamberlain to Hitler

Roosevelt Follows Peace Plea With Call for Cabinet Meeting

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt decided today to hold a special cabinet meeting tomorrow to consider the crisis in Europe.

White House aides said the cabinet session had been moved up from Friday to Tuesday because of conditions abroad.

The President, they added, was keeping in touch with reports from Europe as they came in, minute by minute.

Speaking in the name of 130,000,000 Americans, the President appealed early this morning directly to Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany and President Benes of Czechoslovakia, that they stay out of war.

Copies of his appeal, to avoid the "unspeakable horror" of war, went also to French and English governments.

At the White House, it was said France responded quickly to the dramatic message. Whether the French note will be made public here is up to the state department, however.

White House officials said the President, working in his study alone from 10 o'clock until midnight last night had drafted in long-hand his appeal for peace.

His message dispatched in the early morning hours directly to Hitler and Benes, and through Secretary of State Hull to Premier Chamberlain of Great Britain and Daladier of France, earnestly asked them "not to break off negotiations looking to a peaceful, fair and constructive settlement of the questions at issue."

He told them war's consequences were "incalculable," that millions of men, women and children would lose their lives, the economic system of every country involved was "certain to be shattered" and their social structure "may well be completely wrecked."

The President and Secretary Hull spent most of Sunday working on the message they felt they could not hold up any longer. Well after midnight, correspondents, American and foreign, were called to the state department and handed copies of the telegram.

The message thus was so timed

Europe Bristles

All Capitals Make War-Like Precautions; Prague Isolated by Censorship

(By The Associated Press)

Desperate attempts to save Europe's peace were being made today amid the most electric tension the world has known since 1914.

Much of Europe already had sprung into action in fear that the dramatic efforts would be vain, that soldiers would have the final say October 1—next Saturday, the deadline set by Reichsfuehrer Hitler's final demands on Czechoslovakia.

Britain's Parliament was summoned for Wednesday to hear Prime Minister Chamberlain's account of his efforts to keep the peace.

In Washington Secretary of State Hull extended today the scope of President Roosevelt's appeal for world peace to include Poland and Hungary.

Meanwhile the U. S. State Department reported today the German frontier along Czechoslovakia is closed and American citizens attempting to leave Czechoslovakia via Germany had to turn back and return to Prague.

Chamberlain sent an urgent, personal message to Hitler in an effort supported by France to keep Europe out of war.

Sir Horace Wilson of the British foreign office took it while Chamberlain, foreign minister and army chief discussed complete, specific, joint plans with British leaders.

The conference, which started yesterday, came after France and Czechoslovakia both had held Hitler's demands unacceptable.

German anxiety, already evident as a result of a steady flow of troops toward the Czechoslovak frontier, deepened in anticipation of a speech Hitler will make tonight (2 p. m., E. S. T.).

The whole nation has been ordered to hear his broadcast. While it waited, preparations continued for the worst eventuality.

In Paris, the United States embassy warned all American citizens to return to the United States if they could. Arrangements were made for women and children of Britain's Berlin embassy and consulate staffs to leave Germany tonight.

Censorship and cut communications virtually isolated Prague. A dispatch to Bucharest from the official Czechoslovak news agency, however, disclosed that Czechoslovakia had decreed immediate auxiliary war service for men and women between 17 and 60.

Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Germans, crossed back into Czechoslovakia to inspect his Sudeten Germans, crossed back into Czechoslovakia to inspect his Sudeten Free Corps fighters' front line. It was his first open return since Prague accused him of treason.

The first line is within three-quarters of a mile of Czechoslovak soldiers stationed at Ober Lohma and the Sudeten Germans outnumber the Czechoslovak troops more than two to one unless Prague has sent reinforcements within the past 24 hours.

Henlein, however, ordered that combat with Czechoslovak troops be avoided.

Then he returned to Sudeten German headquarters at Bayreuth, Germany, leaving behind 150 steel-helmeted Free Corps legionnaires who had accompanied him.

At Verona, Italy, Premier Mussolini advised France and Britain to save Europe from war by leaving Czechoslovakia to her fate. He implied approval of the Fuehrer's demands.

A ray of hope was seen in Paris, where diplomats said Premier Daladier took with him to London a compromise plan, unanimously approved by the cabinet, providing for cession of Sudetenland to Germany "sooner than had originally been planned" and permitting the German army "symbolically to occupy a small frontier area outside the Czechoslovak line of fortifications."

The war fronts of Spain and China were quiet.

To Reorganize Division

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—The war department disclosed today the army's second division would be reorganized into a highly mobile, streamlined unit as a probable model for other infantry forces.

The proposed dismemberment of the 1st Infantry Division, with headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, will put it back up to the year the infantry reorganization plans which were given a preliminary field trial there last year.

Anna Van Deusen Is Hurt Badly

West Chestnut Street Girl in Benedictine Hospital; Cycle, Car in Collision

Anna, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Van Deusen of 221 West Chestnut street, narrowly escaped death early Saturday evening when the bicycle she was riding was in collision with an auto driven by John Halwick of Lake Katrine, at the intersection of Levan and Andrew streets.

Following the crash Mr. Halwick conveyed the girl to the Benedictine hospital where she was attended by Dr. Kenneth L. Fever and Dr. Saul Ritchie. It was found that she had sustained a dislocated right shoulder and a broken left leg. The leg was set and placed in a cast by Dr. Ritchie, and the girl will be laid up for several months. She was also bruised about the body and suffered shock.

At the time of the collision the girl was riding her bicycle home and was turning from Levan street into Andrew street as Mr. Halwick was driving out Andrew street toward Broadway.

Mr. Halwick reported the collision to the police department.

Killed at East Bath

Bath, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Frank Bennett, 63, was killed Saturday when the car in which she was riding struck a tree near East Bath. Lillian Wallace, also in the machine, was seriously injured.

Ferdinand Snyder Is Crash Victim

Aged Caretaker Is Struck by Staples Car One Mile South of County Line

Ferdinand Snyder, a man over 70 years of age, who was employed as caretaker at the Flanery place a mile south of the county line, was killed Saturday afternoon when he apparently became confused with traffic on route 3-W and was struck by a car driven by Calvin Staples of Marlborough. The accident happened near the Conway place. The driver of the machine was not held.

According to an investigation by state troopers the aged man was attempting to cross the road. He started to cross and became confused, stepped from in front of a south bound machine to the east lane where he stepped directly into the path of the Staples Ford car.

Mr. Snyder was highly respected in the community and according to Frank Panzella who operates a gas station not far from the scene of the accident Mr. Snyder had no near relatives. Word was sent to Trooper L. Baker at Highland who notified the Orange county authorities when he found the accident had taken place in Orange county.

20,000 Give to Czechs

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—More than 20,000 persons contributed $7,073 to the Czechoslovakian Red Cross at a "save Czechoslovakia" rally yesterday in Madison Square Garden. The crowd, including hundreds unable to enter the packed hall, cheered Thomas Mann, novelist and German expatriate, who denounced Adolf Hitler's proposed dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. "Hitler must fall," Mann said. "There is no other way to peace."

Relyea Commits Suicide Sunday

His health and worry over the fact that the rains of last week had caused a bad cave-in of a retaining wall along his mother's property, was attributed as the cause of suicide of Rulou K. Relyea, 46, who lived with his mother on the River road south of Port Ewen, early Sunday morning.

His mother, Mrs. Esther Relyea, was awakened by a shot about 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning and on investigating found her son had shot himself through the temple with a .45 calibre revolver. His health and worry was the cause of the act. When the body was discovered the revolver was still clutched in his hand.

Neighbors were summoned and Dr. George W. Ross was called, but Mr. Relyea had died instantly. Local police were called, who in turn notified Sheriff Molyneux of the shooting and an investigation was started. Coroner Michael Galletta of Glasco was summoned and issued a suicide verdict.

From the investigation made it seems that Relyea, highly nervous and in ill health for some time, was greatly agitated over the fact that the rains had caused a cave-in along the highway near his home. He had been worrying about how repairs were to be made and apparently that fact and his health preyed upon his mind until he committed the act.

A son of Mrs. Esther Relyea and the late Lorenzo D. Relyea, he is survived by his mother, an uncle, Rudolph Relyea, of this city, and several nieces and nephews. The body was turned over to A. Carr & Sons, from where funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. Interment in Fairview Cemetery, Port Ewen.

MORTGAGE LOANS

DIRECT REDUCTION PLAN

(How It Operates)

In most cases where a straight mortgage exists, interest is paid twice a year, and the principal remains the same. Under the Direct Reduction Plan, both interest and principal are paid in easy monthly installments and in less than 15 years, the mortgage is paid off and you own your own property free and clear. Our Direct Reduction Plan calls for repayment of $10.00 per month for each $1,000 borrowed.

Trucking Strike Hits Manhattan

of the 42nd street ferry to Weehawken, N. J.

Mayor LaGuardia's concern was expressed yesterday when he returned by airplane from California and said he would "stay right with them (union officials and operators) until a satisfactory solution is reached."

Rejecting his plea for a delay, members of three locals of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL) voted 4,071 to 365 for an immediate walkout. The vote was taken at the expiration of a four-day truce agreed to by leaders of an "outlaw" strike that had tied up approximately 75 per cent of the city's motor haulage for six days.

Michael J. Casbal, international vice president of the union, said members of seven New Jersey locals—in Hoboken, Jersey City, Bayonne, Newark and Perth Amboy—would also strike in sympathy.

Casbal said the strikers would arrange for delivery of all perishable foodstuffs, newsprint, hospital and medical supplies, and storm and flood relief shipments to the hurricane-devastated New England area. Similar exemptions were made during the recent "outlaw" strike.

The union originally had demanded a five-day, 40-hour week without reduction in the $44 to $46.50 base wage for a 47-hour work week provided in the contract that expired September 1.

Arthur G. McKeever, managing director of the Merchant Truckmen's Bureau, said there was "no justification" for a wage increase and that a contract based on the union's terms would force many truck operators out of business.

New Bakery Is Opened

By Samuel D. Peterman

Samuel D. Peterman, proprietor of Peterman's Bakery, one of those which sponsored the stunt swim featuring Al Melville, Sunday, announces the opening of his new shop, 51-55 Cedar street, with a full line of baked goods.

An advertisement in The Freeman tonight, heralds the opening of the bakery with a delicious department open from 5 a. m. to 6 p. m. At the new bakery, Peterman's will feature Sicilian bread, the same as in the former location on Broadway.

The Old World rushes along from crisis to crisis. Diplomats hasten from one conference to another. Munition plants hum at top speed and armies grow greater.

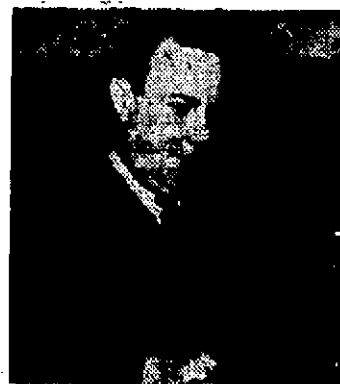

What is happening now? What will happen next?

On every news front in uneasy Europe, American-trained correspondents are alert every minute around the clock to report the swift march of events for this newspaper with vivid accuracy and speed. They are the staff reporters for The Associated Press and they have been in the midst of international trouble many times before.

DeWitt Mackenzie, who only recently covered the historic conference between Prime Minister Chamberlain and Chancellor Hitler on the momentous Czechoslovakian situation, was with The Allies in the World War.

Louis P. Lochner, constantly at Hitler's side to obtain minute-by-minute developments in Berlin, is the reporter who scored the great beat on the Nazi "blood purge" of 1934. He has covered German affairs for the past 14 years.

John Lloyd, with the French ministers to report the Paris angle of the Sudeten controversy, helped to cover the Spanish war.

Richard Massock, at Mussolini's side to cover Italian developments, was stationed in Russia.

Melvin K. Whittlesey, at Eger to report on Czechoslovakian mobilization, saw many years of service with the League of Nations at Geneva.

Alvin J. Steinkopf, who directed the activities of a corps of AP reporters at Prague, covered Hitler when the Chancellor marched into Vienna to annex Austria.

These are but a few of the dozens of Associated Press correspondents who are stationed abroad to report the nervous course of European history. Like all Associated Press reporters, they were there yesterday, they are there today, and they will be there tomorrow.

Puerto Rico Has Color and Charm

Picturesque "Spanish Isle" Under American Flag Is Odd Mixture.

WASHINGTON. — Another "Columbus Park" joined the long list of similar place names in the Western world when Puerto Rico recently opened its Parque Colon, near Aguadilla on the northwest coast of the island.

Marking the site where Columbus himself is believed to have stopped in 1493, to replenish his failing water supply, a simple cross (to be replaced later by a more imposing monument) calls attention to the fact that Puerto Rico is the only U. S. territory which can lay claim to having sheltered the great explorer.

"From the standpoint of historic association and scenic beauty," points out the National Geographic society, "Puerto Rico has charm as well as many more tangible attractions for the visitor."

Drowned Mountain Top

"A fragment of a drowned mountain chain, that may once have been part of the South American mainland, the island has been called the Switzerland of the West Indies. Nearly 4,000 feet up, at the summit of its highest peaks, one may see both the Atlantic ocean and the Caribbean sea, with a hint of the Virgin Islands to the east. Good motor roads wind easily over the hills, along which travelers look down on a semi-jungle panorama of wild breadfruit and mango trees of palms and West Indian cottonwoods, of thatched huts in little clearings, pineapple plantations, fields of grazing herds, and smoking sugar mills that stretch brick fingers to the sky."

"In Puerto Rico nature splashes color with a lavish hand. Rows of flamboyant trees make a scarlet archway of certain roads. White blossoms of coffee plantations send faint perfume on the tropic breeze, and everywhere there is the lush green of rain-drenched forests."

"Delicate orchids found in Puerto Rican mountains delight the botanist. For the adventurous there is a challenge in the mountains' unexplored caves, almost concealed by overhanging jungle growth. Sun-worshippers find Puerto Rico another winter playground. Medicinal springs at Coamo are praised by health seekers as a 'Fountain of Youth,' missed by Ponce de Leon."

"Rather ironically, it was Ponce de Leon who, in 1508, following the discovery of the island by Columbus more than a decade before, founded its first settlement near San Juan. From there he later sailed on a heart-breaking search for his squandered youth."

San Juan Odd Mixture.

"Today, under the Stars and Stripes, Puerto Rico's capital at San Juan is an odd mixture of early-Spanish and late-American life."

"A walled city of the Conquistadores, she still preserves many of the old fortifications. There is San Cristobal fort, with its ghost stories, and Morro Castle, that resisted attack from English, Dutch, French, and American fleets, as well as from pirates and buccaneers."

"Under Fortaleza, built in 1639 and used since as the ruling governor's mansion, Spanish doubloons and other plunder were once stored. Ancient churches, before whose altars mailed soldiers of the Spanish king once knelt, yet hear the prayers of the faithful. Grilled windows, open piazzas, and stiff Spanish conventions, and Spanish amusements (including the cockfight) remind the visitor that it was only 40 years ago, at the close of the Spanish-American war, that Puerto Rico was ceded to the United States."

"Yet Yankee influence steadily gains ground. American jazz fills the air, and American automobiles, trucks and buses ride the streets."

"As a matter of bookkeeping, however, the record shows that Uncle Sam has paid well for his place in Puerto Rico. Millions of American dollars have been spent in sanitation, education, relief, and other public works for this land which has been harassed by many natural and man-made problems."

"For years the island had a bad reputation among economists, despite natural wealth. There are far too many people to support—nearly 1,800,000 in an area only about 100 miles long and 35 miles across. By decreasing the death rate, the United States has intensified the problem of feeding them."

"On the other hand, according to Governor Winship's official report for 1932, that year saw considerable progress and improvement."

Foghorn Record Set, 61 Consecutive Hours

BOSTON. — A 222-year-old record has been broken. During recent storms, Keeper Maurice Babcock of Boston light, at the entrance to the harbor, had to sound his foghorn for 61 consecutive hours—the longest period in the light's history.

"The continuous noise got on one's nerves and almost drove us crazy," said Babcock.

CZECH'S PROTEST DISMEMBERMENT IN PRAGUE

Thousands of Czechs rally around the parliament buildings in Prague, calling for arms to save their nation from dismemberment. An order for general mobilization followed the demonstration. (Associated Press Radiophoto).

NAZI GUNNERS ENTRENCHED AT ASCH

Members of Konrad Henlein's Nazi "free corps," like these entrenched behind a tree trunk and sandbag barricade, maintained control of Asch in Czechoslovakia, but the rest of strife-torn Sudetenland was in the hands of the Czech army. (Associated Press Radiophoto).

SMILES DESPITE WAR CLOUDS

England's Premier Neville Chamberlain and Germany's Chancellor Adolf Hitler smiled as they shook hands and parted at Godesberg after their final three-hour conference. But, following their meeting, Europe rushed to arms and war seemed nearer than at any time since the armistice. (Associated Press Radiophoto.)

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP). — Dr. Edward S. Godfrey, Jr., state commissioner of health, wants counties to employ "adequate nursing personnel" in health departments. "Counties applying for state public health work aid should make increased provision for employment and maintenance of nurses," Dr. Godfrey added in a letter to clerks of county boards of supervisors. At least one public health nurse should be employed for every 5,000 population, he explained.

"Let up—light up a Camel" puts more joy into living

Terrell Jacobs, lion trainer, and "Tony" Concello, circus aerialist (right), both testify to the value of "Let up—light up a Camel." "Animals can spring into instant action—then relax," says Jacobs. "We are apt to get our nerves all wound up with our tense way of living—can't let go. I find that Camels soothe my nerves." "Terrell's right," Miss Concello says. "When my nerves are tired, a Camel helps them to rest."

DID YOU KNOW?

—that one tablespoonful of tobacco seed will sow 100 square yards? Right down to the day of harvest, Camel tobacco experts watch the development of the crop in each locality. The Camel cigarette buyers know where the mild, choice, aromatic tobacco is, and buy accordingly.

Camels are a smooth blend of these MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS: Turkish and Domestic.

Fred L. McDaniel, cowboy (right), says: "When I feel nervous I let up, and light up a soothing Camel. Camels are mild—I smoke 'em steadily. They are so comforting, and never tire my taste."

Girl Witnesses School Tragedy

Saugerties, Sept. 26 — Miss Juliette Gifford, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. W. Gifford of this village, was among students at Northfield Seminary in Massachusetts who saw two of their companions crushed beneath falling timber and masonry as a chimney fell in the dining room of a dormitory, during the storm of last Wednesday, it was learned here today.

The experience of seeing the two girls meet their death before them was most horrifying to the students of the seminary. Miss Gifford wrote to her parents, and most of them have not yet recovered from the shock.

All the girls were seated in the dining room at Gould Hall, the largest dormitory at the school, when the accident happened. The chimney came through the roof with a terrific crash and the two girls killed were seated in the direct path of the falling material.

Others were injured as they were struck by the falling masonry, and Miss Gifford said that she worked for three hours with other girls in aiding the injured and frightened students. Telephone and electric service wire lines were crippled in the storm, and it was some time before medical aid could be summoned.

The girls killed were Audrey Lucas of Yonkers and Norma Stockburger of Meriden, Conn. Twenty other students were reported injured.

Boy Injured in Odd Accident

Richard, 11-year-old son of Joseph M. Davis of 163 Washington avenue, was injured about the head in an odd accident on Sunday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock, according to the report made by Mr. Davis to the police department.

There had been a wire stretched across the road, Mr. Davis said, by an employee of the telephone company when an auto driven at a fast rate of speed struck the wire, snapping it. As the wire snapped, one end was wrapped about the boy's body and he was whirled about two or three times before his head struck the pavement.

The auto driver did not stop. Dr. John B. Krom was summoned and attended to the lad. The father informed the police that he had not learned the extent of the son's injuries at the time he reported the matter.

Lawrence Boy Hit By Bicyclist

Florence Smith of 27 West O'Reilly street, reported to the police department that while riding her bicycle on Broadway about 3:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon, a boy, William Lawrence, 4 years old, ran in front of the bicycle near Cedar street and was knocked down. The boy was taken to the Kingston Hospital where it required two stitches to close the wound on his head.

Delegates to Go To State Meeting

Delegates from Kingston and Ulster county to the Republican state convention at Saratoga plan to leave on Tuesday. Mayor C. J. Helselman, one of the delegates, stated today, that he would not attend the convention as he believed it his duty to remain at his post at the city hall until the present emergency created by the hurricane of last Wednesday was ended.

The mayor has spent practically his entire time on the streets supervising in clearing away the wreckage left in the path of the hurricane.

Coming home one Sunday afternoon with a string of trout, Robble was suddenly confronted by the local minister. There was no way of escape, but the boy rose to the occasion. Going up to the minister, he said—Minister, do you see what these trout got for nabbing worms on Sunday?

Three Men Face Robbery Charges

Benji LaRoco, 31, of 1183 67th street, New York, and Joseph M. LaRoco, 29, of 6727 11th avenue, both charged with being in the robbery last July of Charles Fields of Obolville, N. Y., who has been investigating the case. Both had been held in the grand jury on charges of robbery, after arraignment by Justice Walter S. Seaman. The two men had been implicated in the case by Anthony J. LaRoco, of Brooklyn, who was brought back to Ulster county last week and held for the grand jury on the same charge. LaRoco when arrested said he was with his brother Joseph and the three of them left the night in question, in a wagon wheel, at Centerville, N. Y., going about a mile from the town to his home and when they were about a mile from the town, he saw a man who was all that he had seen at the time. Borochetti for a time bartender at the Wagon Wheel.

Missing Boys Located

Three West Camp boys, reported missing from their homes Saturday, have been located in Brooklyn, it was announced this morning by the Saugerties police department. The three, Foster, Mitchell, Jr., John DuBois and John Hartley, it was learned, were located Friday evening at the Mount Recreation Hall in West Camp. It is believed they left some time after midnight to visit friends in Brooklyn.

THE SCRAGGS LAUGH LAST!

By AL CAPT

HEM AND AMY

THE MASTER MIND

By Frank H. Beck

May—My fiance is telling everybody in India that he is coming to marry the most beautiful girl in the world.

Edna—Too bad, darling, after being engaged to you for such a long time.

Doctor—(to his daughter)—Did you tell the young man that I think he's no good?

Daughter—Yes, dad, but that didn't faze him. He said it wasn't the first wrong diagnosis you made.

Booby—What in the world are you doing wandering around out here at this hour of the night in a dazed condition, bearing the signs of a vigorous quarrel, even a blackened eye? Come on, old chap, let me take you home to your wife.

Woody (groaning pitifully)—B-but you don't understand. That's where I got it!

Untangler: I comb her tousled silken hair, and smooth each lovely curl. So carefully—and tenderly, she's such a little girl.

That's why she says—You comb the best, cause you never hurt! To her my touch is magical—my technique quite expert. She doesn't know a loving heart, guides every fingers motion. That patient hands which spare her pain, express a rare devotion.

Some day she'll walk beyond my reach, through life's involving angles. Then, God, won't you shield her from hurts, and smooth out all her tangles? —Lyla Myers Wite—Mrs. Green has another beautiful spring hat. Artful hubby—So? It's a pity she's not as independent of such aids to appearance as you are, my dear!

When he claims that he will love you for a lifetime and a day, When he whispers—I'll adore you, though your hair has turned to gray. Try and ask him—softly, meekly—What about it if I grow fat? If he says, Each pound I'll treasure, Smile—and let it go at that!

You had better not brag about your extremely sensitive disposition. According to a modern writer it is nothing to be proud of. She says—Sensitiveness is usually a sign of petty, peevish, neurotic disposition and lack of robust capacity to take life on the chin.—In other words it is better to—grin and bear it—.

More Southern Propaganda No other season with autumn can vie. With its persimmon pudding and pumpkin pie. Baked potatoes and possum roasted. Country sausage and corn toast.

Jane—Our wedding was delightful and we got so many gifts in silver. Myrtle—I suppose your father gave you silver too? Jane—No, he gave us a bottle of acid to test the other presents with!

HOLLYWOOD—Frank Harling—the chubby fellow with the blue beret glued to his head for neuralgia's sake—is one musician who gives credit where credit is due.

It wasn't his music that started his career, he insists, but the fact that an exuberant foreign maestro kissed him smack on both cheeks after a performance.

But the story isn't that. It all began long before Harling had ever met Hopkins, or Hopkins had ever heard of Harling. The musician had been conducting, arranging and doing other musical chores for Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske for seven years when he decided he wanted to compose a grand opera. He needed a libretto.

Said Mrs. Fiske: "I wrote a one-act play that Bertha Kalisch has been playing in vaudeville for three years. It ought to be just the thing."

The Italian composer Puccini, however, had an option on the operatic rights. When Puccini did Belasco's "Girl of the Golden West" instead and didn't exercise the option, Harling took it over.

THE Metropolitan rejected the opera, but the Chicago Civic took it on. Rosa Raisa starred, and Christmas saw the opening of "A Light from St. Agnes." Harling conducting—and fat broke, too," he says.

After the opening he was famous, but still broke. The opera was the first to include jazz—but it didn't make money.

After the success of "Deep River" in 1927 Harling's trail to Hollywood was clear. He's been scoring, with few intermissions, ever since. It's his music you'll be hearing in "Men With Wings."

Nine years ago Paramount had the play, "Come Out of the Kitchen," and wanted to film it as a musical. Harling was assigned to the score. Wesley Ruggles directing. It was all done and one day Ruggles said, "Well, I'm thinking we've got a turkey on our hands."

That was Harling's cue. "I've got a hot tune," he said.

RUGGLES heard it. At once they began building a new set—a Mississippi swamp three blocks long. But they still didn't have any lyrics. They wanted something a whole chorus of negro slaves could sing in that three-block swamp.

They staged the number to Sam Coslow's lyrics—and the picture, called "Honey," was saved.

But that song today, nine years later, is a hit. It's billed as coming from the Bing Crosby picture of the same title, directed by the same Ruggles. Ruggles liked the song as a title, but except in the overture, it isn't heard in "Sing You Sinners" at all.

His Auto Stolen J. Waldo Coutant of Stone Ridge reported to the police department Sunday night that his 1937 Chevrolet coach, which he had left parked at the curb on Broadway avenue, had been stolen.

Street Program Awaits Normalcy

The street rebuilding program that the board of public works had underway in the Seventh and 13th wards at the time of the hurricane on Wednesday, has been suspended until the present emergency is over.

What streets were left partly completed when the storm broke will be finished. However, whether any additional streets will be rebuilt this year will depend largely on the amount of money left in the board's funds.

Mayor Heiseleman said this morning in response to inquiries that all streets that were started before the storm broke would be finished, but it was impossible at this time to state definitely whether any future street work will be attempted this year, due to finances.

The hurricane, one of the worst storms in the city's history, will cost a considerable sum of money in removing trees, repairing damaged curbs and sidewalks that were broken as trees along the curbs were felled by the wind.

Every available man in the employ of the board of public works, as well as what WPA workers could be had were placed at work repairing the ravages of the hurricane. For that reason it has been impossible to continue any street repair work.

No estimate has been attempted as yet as to the cost of clearing up the streets after the storm had ceased.

STORM LEAVES NEW ENGLAND TOPSY TURVY

These survivors sit dejected beside the wreckage of what once was a resort hotel at Misquamicut, R. I., after collecting what personal belongings they could find in the wake of a hurricane and tidal wave.

Ulster Troopers On Storm Patrol

A detail of state troopers from Ulster county has been sent to Long Island for emergency duty in the West Hampton section where severe hurricane damage made necessary a call for extra officers. Twenty state troopers from up-state were sent into the area to assist with expected weekend traffic caused by sight-seeing motorists and to aid in patrolling the area to prevent looting of the fashionable summer places.

Among the local officers who were sent by Captain Daniel E. Fox, commander of "C" Troop are Sergeant E. J. Hulse of Highland.

Troopers Klein, Senecal, Martin and McGranigan

How long the officers will remain is not known but they will aid the Long Island authorities until the emergency is passed. Trooper L. Baker is in charge of the Highland sub-station.

Business Activity

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—Increased activity in the clothing and several smaller industries was credited today for a 2.8 per cent gain in employment in New York state during August.

FORM OF SUBMISSION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 3

Small the proposed amendment submitted by the Constitutional Convention resulting from the debt limit of the City of New York, 1900, and the Department of Transportation facilities approved.

Plenty of Seats And Tickets, Says William Roedell

Fearing that the heavy sale of tickets for the police ball, October 11, might tend to lead prospective buyers to think that there is a scarcity, President William T. Roedell has announced that the seating arrangement will take care of 600 more than the usual capacity of the municipal auditorium.

"Anticipating a record crowd for the ball," said the president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, "the police committee sponsoring the affair laid out an entirely new set-up for October 11, the date that Rudy Vallee comes to Kingston for the first time."

"Requests have come for tickets from various cities along the Hudson valley, and indications are that there will be heavy patronage from outside of Kingston, but, still, local residents still have a chance to purchase at least 400 tickets that are available."

Members of the P. B. A. on the police force have tickets for sale, and for those who do not come in with officers in their daily routine, a phone call to police headquarters would not be out of order in making ticket demands known.

Aside from Rudy Vallee, who gets on a half-hour show of his own, in connection with his band, there will be seven vaudeville acts from WOR broadcasting studios, featuring famous entertainers—Pauline Alpert, whirling pianist; Beatrice Joyce, Radio City Music Hall soprano; John Upman, baritone of radio and stage renown; Edna Lambert and Company, featured in Hollywood shorts; Baby Rose Marie, juvenile queen of the airwaves; Blanche and Elliott, featured dance team at all of New York's leading night spots and the Park Avenue Debuts, eight beautiful girls.

Introducing the acts will be Jerry Mann, master of ceremonies extraordinary, who was featured on the Hammerstein program over WOR.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, Sept. 26—Mrs. Daniel Froyland was entertained on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Jacobson.

The Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Van Tol, who formerly served the Reformed Dutch Church and are now at Beacon, spent a few days last week with friends in this place and met with a hearty welcome from a host of friends.

Chester Wood and mother of Callicoon called on Fred Baker, Jr., at the M. E. parsonage Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearson and daughter, Jane, motored to Massachusetts on Sunday. Miss Pearson will attend Cambridge Architectural College.

The Rev. and Mrs. Harold Hoffman had as their guests Wednesday the Rev. Howard Schade of Coxsack and the Rev. Linden Lindsay, also the Rev. and Mrs. Albertus Bosenbroek of Guilford Center and the Rev. Charles Swabb of Glenville, all of whom were returning from attending a conference at New Brunswick Seminary.

Church to Hold Communion Day

Next Sunday will mark the World-Wide Communion Day for the Presbyterian Church in this country. In common with most of the churches, mission stations abroad, the local church is to celebrate the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at 11 o'clock. During the week every member of the church will receive a letter of invitation to this sacred memorial feast; and it is the hope of the pastor and Session that there will be a large attendance.

This evening at 8 o'clock a joint and separate meeting of the Board of Trustees and the Session will be held in the Ramsey Memorial Building.

Latest reports from the financial committee indicate that last week's rummage sale conducted by the Women's Service League, surpassed expectations. On Thursday of this week members of the League will attend the annual coaching conference of North River Presbyterian Society at the River Church, commencing at 10 o'clock. This organization of the Elmwood street chapter, will have its October meeting one week from Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock.

The Rev. William J. McVey is to attend a meeting of Presbytery's General Council Thursday at 2 o'clock in the Poughkeepsie Church. The annual and most important session of Presbytery takes place in the Beacon Church Tuesday, October 4, at which time the Session records of all churches are examined.

At 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon the pastor will address his former congregation in the Freedom Plains Church, which is the Ninth Annual Homecoming service. With former members and friends from far and near usually attending this outstanding event, the church officers are preparing for more than 300 people.

The officers of all organizations are requested to reserve Saturday evening, October 8, for the Forum with Dr. William E. Schell, who will also speak in church service the next day at 11 o'clock. The time of the Saturday forum is 8 o'clock.

Lester Denis, Harford Shultz, Jr., and Harold Balz of the Deacons Board, will have charge of the Sunday communion.

Rehearsals will be under way soon for the Christadelphians new play, "Three Days to Marry," a popular dramatic bit of a recent year. Mrs. William McVey will be the coach. A special session of the Christadelphians is scheduled for Wednesday of this week to make final plans.

HOME BUREAU

Lake Katrine
The members of the Lake Katrine Home Bureau held their fall rally at the home of Mrs. Carl Willie Thursday, September 22.

A covered dish luncheon was served at noon, after which the meeting was turned over to Miss Everette Parsons, the Home Bureau agent, who presented members with copies of the printed year program of work. She carefully explained and discussed the tentative dates and purposes of both county and local unit meetings.

Miss Anne Cassidy, the state health nurse, who is in charge of the northern half of Ulster county explained the duties and functions of a health committee for this district and invited all to attend a meeting to be held at the Lake Katrine school house on Tuesday evening, November 8.

A short business meeting followed at which time the date of our second lesson on the clothing project was decided upon. The lesson will be given at the Home Bureau office Tuesday, September 27, at 10:30 a. m.

A committee was appointed for the next social which will be at the home of Mrs. William Hooley, October 31. Those appointed were: Mrs. William Hooley, Mrs. Philip Hendricks, Mrs. Tracy Munson, Mrs. Albert Everett and Mrs. John Wallace.

A social hour followed the business meeting. Two short skits were given by Mrs. Audrey Roosa, Mrs. Kenneth Parish and Mrs. Rupert Everett, Mrs. James Forman, Mrs. Tracy Munson, Mrs. Max Lechmann, Mrs. Philip Hendricks, Mrs. John Wallace, Mrs. Graham Parish, Mrs. Donald Parish, Mrs. James Pfeiffer, Mrs. Carl Willie, Miss Anne Cassidy and Miss Everette Parsons.

New Paltz, Sept. 26—A the last meeting of Huguenot Grange, E. Dayton Rose was in charge of the program under the heading of "Books Worth Reading."

David DuBois gave his impressions and review of "Drums Along the Mohawk," by Walter Edmonds. A ladies' trio composed of Mrs. Fred Dressel, Mrs. Charles Johnston and Mrs. Arthur Kurtz gave several numbers. Mrs. Daisy Kortright read several bits of poetry after which all sang "All Through the Night."

Mrs. Mary Deyo led in a question bee for fun which all enjoyed. Mrs. Irving O. Kortright and Mrs. Minnie Duryea were hostesses and refreshments were served. Mrs. Harold DuBois will be in charge of the next meeting which will be Harvest Home Night. Mrs. Harriet Dayton and Mrs. Herman DuBois will be in charge of the refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Van Alst will be head of the committee for Boosters' Night meeting on October 1. A pilgrimage to Washingtonville Grange will be made October 11. Huguenot Grange will furnish three numbers on the program at that meeting.

Elementary school enrollment in the United States dropped 4.3 per cent between 1930 and 1935, and it is still going down, apparently due to a drop in the population of children under high school age.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Stocks

generally fell 1 to 4 points in today's market—a few of as much as eight—as European war threats revived and touched off selling in virtually all departments.

Occasional efforts to rally the list met with scant success. The slip-up was pronounced at the opening as large blocks of pivotal stocks, motors and specialties changed hands on the downside.

The pace slowed appreciably on come-back periods. Transfers were at the rate of about 1,300,000 shares.

Slight improvement was in evidence, here and there, near the close, but the mild support was not sufficient to keep the market from slipping.

Strengthening the pessimism of the foreign outlook from a market standpoint was the peace plan made by President Roosevelt to the major powers.

That an explosion might be imminent also was emphasized by word the Czechs had refused to accept the German demands, that Hitler later in the day would broadcast a speech to the nation in which another ultimatum might be issued to Czechoslovakia and that frantic military preparations by the principal European countries continued.

General weakness of foreign markets was an especially chilling factor and a new rush for gold and dollars overseas resulted in a rift of the London price of the dollar.

At 2 o'clock, a peak since April, 1935, Sterling tumbled to lowest levels in more than three years. The French franc was correspondingly heavy. European dollar bonds, notably those of Italy, crumbled on the New York exchange. U. S. government securities and corporation loans pointed substantially downward.

What futures pressed forward, but other commodities were shaky.

Although overshadowed by war threats, the domestic economic picture provided a little encouragement. It was not overlooked, though, that war could easily put a severe crimp in the autumn upswing.

Securities Showed A Small Average Gain Last Week

In a week marked by backing and filling, as news from central Europe changed from day to day, security averages on the New York Stock Exchange showed a small average gain for the week over the closing prices of Saturday, September 17, the industrial average being up 1.30 points for the week.

Losses the last three days were more than offset by advances during the first three days of the week. Closing the week with losses Saturday, industrials were down 1.06 points for the day, to 133.03 in the Dow-Jones average.

Rails were off 0.10 point for the day to 34.35 and utilities were down a like fraction, to 17.82.

As to the situation with respect to foreign news one commentator says: "At no time had price movements here given way to anything like demoralization. Our markets generally reflected the common attempt to put a reasoned estimate upon the probable effects on us of hostilities abroad."

Based upon the widespread conviction that the economic position of the United States is much less open to injury now than it was in 1914 and that the national demoralization to keep out of anything that happens will hold firm.

Outside of the unsettlement due to foreign complications the news at home, although not startling, was uniformly on the encouraging side. The rate of steel output continued to show a gain whereas a year ago it was declining.

There was a small increase in automobile production as manufacturers began to get the new models under movement on the assembly lines. Carloadings for the week ending September 17 totaled 660,142 cars, highest since November 13, 1937. Electric power consumption continued to show signs of recovery and held a good level. Cotton goods market was active.

Industrial production, which made a nine-months high in August, is still showing gains according to the Federal Reserve System reports and with the recovery movement getting support from heavy goods output in September will be the best in 11 months, with the index, based on 1923.25 as 100, at 90 per cent of normal. The index was down to 76 in May, the bottom of the recession.

Bank reports continue to show that short-term credit is not being used to the extent that outstanding fall and winter activity in trade demands. In the week of September 14 member banks in the New York district increased commercial loans but $2,000,000 and the total for banks reporting was $853,000,000 less than on the same date a year ago. All of which indicates that manufacturers and distributors are taking few chances and are holding inventories down, or even reducing them.

To add to the situation, so far as the ability of banks to find outlets for their surplus funds is concerned, conditions in Europe have been driving capital to this country and the Treasury added some $50,000,000 to its gold holdings last month.

The monthly bulletin of the National Association of Purchasing Agents says that incoming orders to manufacturers are showing some gains, but the increase has been small during the past 30 days. It sees production and distribution moving upward at a slow rate through the next few months and finds encouragement from the fact that "continued by its absence is an indication that the business structure of the country is due for any immediate setback." There are indications of improvement in spots in the east, with a bit of betterment in the south and conditions unchanged in the west.

New York city truck drivers voted to strike last night; ask reduction in working hours from 47 to 40, without a cut in pay. Indications are that about 1,000,000 railway workers have voted to strike October 1 if wages are reduced.

and that the world may thereby escape the madness of a new resort to war . . . once they are broken off reason is banished and force asserts itself.

Force produces no solution for the future good of humanity."

Officials hoped the telegram would reach Hitler while the draft of his speech, to be delivered tonight, was still fluid and would have a definite effect on what he would say.

The telegram was interpreted as both an appeal and a warning. When the President said the fabric of peace in Europe, if not throughout the world, is in immediate danger, he meant, informed officials said, the European leaders might find nations outside Europe drawn in against one side or the other.

It also was interpreted as a warning to the American people that, however isolationist, some might want to be, they could not escape the consequences of war.

"No nation can escape some measure of the consequences of such a world catastrophe," he said.

UNION CENTER
Union Center, Sept. 26.—Mrs. Elizabeth Freer of Tilton spent Wednesday with Mrs. Ellen DuBois.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Wagon and sons, Wallace and Elvin, Jr., were supper guests of Miss Grace Wagon, of Kingston, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coultant and June Zimmerman were callers at the home of Mrs. Jennie Mosher of Creek Locks on Sunday.

Many large trees and light poles were blown down during the storm Wednesday. Residents were without electric service.

Laura Soper spent last week-end with Shirley Holstein of Kingston.

Services at the chapel are as follows: Sunday School at 10 a. m. Mrs. Grace Hapay, superintendent. Evening service at 8 o'clock, the Rev. L. C. Richmond officiating. Midweek prayer service Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Members of New York dairy herd-improvement associations replace one-fifth of their herds each year because of losses from disease, low-producing ability, and other causes which lower milk production.

Local Death Record

Albany Pilot Finishes 1st; Knights Even It With Kyanize

Menges' Time
Is 2:21.3 in Whirl
At Woodstock Oval
Rhymer Fifth

Local Pilot Winds Up in Money Division — Special
Race for This Sector's
Speedway Demos

Woodstock, Sept. 25—Charles Menges of West Albany, who for several race meetings at the Woodstock Legion Speedway has been edging up on fame in the nature event of 25 laps, yesterday picked in the good time of 2:21.3.

Carl Carlson, who on September 11 took the main event, finished second; Ken Gallup, who like Carlson is from the Paradise stable, Albany, was third; Cliff Barnett, Albany, was fourth, and Ted Rhymer of Kingston, took fifth position. All five places pay in the main.

Ed Buckley of Scranton, Pa., had the pack for several laps in the feature event, but motor trouble developed and he was forced to spin his midge into the pit. Thereafter it was a battle between Menges and Carlson with Barnett not far behind and Menges, driving his orange No. 10, hung grimly to the inside of the track. Several times he grazed the protective hay bales at the curves, but never sufficiently to throw him into a reserve spin.

The best qualifying time of the day was turned in by a midge driver new to the oval, R. H. Frank of Bridgeport, Conn., whose turn was done in :19.8. Following this attempt Krisak's car developed serious motor trouble and he did not figure in money positions thereafter.

Telegrams From Storm Zones Saturday evening Rufus Anderson, Bob Clair, Dick Sawin, Don McGee, Brenton Dunham and Charlie Street, all of whom reside in the hurricane-stricken zone of Massachusetts, informed the speedway directors in telegrams that they could not hope to reach Woodstock yesterday.

Jack Franchling, of East Hartford, Conn., also was storm-bound. Cliff Barnett won the first qualifying heat of eight laps, and in doing so took an early lead in a quarter lap which he held doggedly.

Menges captured the second qualifying heat, while Dick Doyle, Karhson driver, took the third. The semi-final went to Don Jackson. Second in the third qualifying heat was Walter Gallup, of Albany, who drove his first midge race yesterday.

Thrilling Finish
 The second qualifying heat which was done by Menges provided the closest heat of the day. Bud Marl held a sufficiently good lead until coming into the final curve on the last lap he skidded wide and gave the hard-pressed Menges the opportunity of zooming down the stretch to finish about eight inches ahead of him.

Norman Collins in the semi-final was running well with position the victory ahead of him if trouble, when Ken Gallup, driving No. 1, locked wheels with him in the outturn of the south bend. Collins was forced to withdraw.

Novelty Feature
 A special novelty event was staged for Ulster county drivers, in which the pilots wore broad-brimmed straw hats upon their helmets, holding the top-pieces with one hand. Bud Marl, of Pine Bush, took this event and Louis Foss of New Paltz, was second.

Dick Doyle was disqualified because he fastened his hat with his goggles strap.

The summaries:
 First qualifying heat, 8 laps, reversed start: Barnett, Buckley, Maggiamco: 2:37.5.

Second qualifying heat, 8 laps, reversed start: Menges, Marl, Carlson: 2:39.5.

Third qualifying heat, 8 laps, reversed start: Doyle, Walter Gallup: 2:49.2.

Semi-final, 10 laps: Jackson, Ken Gallup, Louis Foss: 3:29.2.

Novelty race, 5 laps: Marl, Foss: 1:48.8.

Feature, 25 laps: Menges, Carlson, K. Gallup, Barnett, Rhymer: 21.3.

There used to be a discussion as to whether the world was round or flat, but a good many folk have compromised on the belief that part of it is crooked.

ARMY'S OVERHEAD ATTACK SCORES

John A. McDavid, Army end, reaches to grab a touchdown pass from John R. Schrader (41), Army back. It was a second quarter score as Army defeated Wichita University, 32-0, at West Point.

Next Saturday's Grid Slate Offers Attractive Contests

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—College football teams plunge into October and the business of deciding conference and sectional championships this week.

There's nothing on next Saturday's schedule quite as surprising as the Alabama-Southern California game. Alabama, which has been running well with position the victory ahead of him if trouble, when Ken Gallup, driving No. 1, locked wheels with him in the outturn of the south bend. Collins was forced to withdraw.

Here's how the situation shapes up by sections after Saturday's battles:

East: Pitt, off to a flying start toward mythical eastern championship with a 19-0 victory over West Virginia, takes on Pop Warner's Temple Owls, who beat out Albright 6-0 Friday. Fate meets a promising Columbia team at New Haven; Cornell tackles Colgate, its powerful upstate rival; and Harvard opens against Brown, which looks stronger than usual.

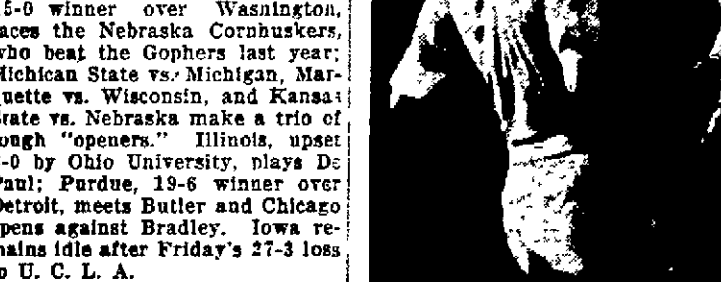

More in the usual line, Dartmouth, 46-0 victor over Bates, meets St. Lawrence, Princeton opens against Williams and Penn against Lafayette, which was unbeaten last season.

Army, which walloped Wichita, 32-0, meets Virginia Polytechnic, beaten 16-0 by Duke; and Navy, 26-0 winner over William and Mary, plays Virginia Military. Penn State takes on one of the south's leading upset victims, Maryland, which lost 19-6 to Richmond. On Friday Duquesne meets Texas Tech's strong outfit at Buffalo and George Washington plays Furman.

Mid-West: Indiana and Ohio State, two topflight candidates for the Big Ten title, clash in the opener at Columbus; Minnesota, 15-0 winner over Washington, faces the Nebraska Cornhuskers, who beat the Gophers last year; Michigan State vs. Michigan, Marquette vs. Wisconsin, and Kansas State vs. Nebraska make a trio of tough "openers."

Illinois, upset 6-0 by Ohio University, plays De Paul; Purdue, 19-6 winner over Detroit, meets Butler and Chicago opens against Bradley. Iowa remains idle after Friday's 27-3 loss to U. C. L. A.

Kansas, which outlasted Texas 19-13 Saturday, meets Notre Dame

Here's J. Donald Budge (far court) as he scored a placement point against his pal, Gene Mako, in national singles final at Forest Hills, L. I. Budge went to complete a sweep of all the world's major titles—Australian, French, British and American.

Dead-Heads Ruin Golf Success

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—George Murphy, the "angel" who autographed the $13,500 check that represents the prize money in the Westchester 109-hole open golf tournament, is ready to write off his magnificent venture to experience. It's a bitter experience, at that.

The tournament, going into its final two-day, 36-hole-a-day stage, already is operating at a loss and is bound to wind up in the red. It drew practically all the stars in the business, and the stars drew thousands of spectators, but too many of the spectators were dead-heads.

On Saturday, when the big guns fired their opening salvos, the gallery was estimated at 3,500. Only 400 of those paid their way in. For yesterday's second round, when Veteran Billy Burke took the lead, there was a turnout of between 7,000 and 8,000. But fully 6,000 of those got in either on the cuff or on their nerve.

Mostly they follow Sam Snead. They stuck to him all the way yesterday even though he got only a 72 that left him at 145, six strokes behind Burke, and Harry Cooper and Gene Sarazen, paired with him, weren't that good.

800 Golf Entries
 White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP)—A flood of entries, nearly 800 of them, has made it necessary to lengthen the rich 109-hole Westchester open golf tournament which will be played at the Fourway Golf Club here. The tournament will open Wednesday, September 21, instead of a day later as originally planned.

A's Won Two In 1910-11; Built '$100,000 Infield'

By DILLON GRAHAM

Connie Mack, the constant builder, popped up with world championship teams again in 1910-11.

With Harry Davis still stationed at first base, Connie filled his infield with young stars, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Frank (Home Run) Baker, the Babe Ruth of his day. Jack Coombs shared hurling honors with Eddie Plank and "Chief" Bender.

The A's won easily in 1910, 4-1, the Chicago Cubs' only victory gained by Mordecai (Three Fingers) Brown. Coombs equalled Christy Mathewson's string of three victories.

The Athletics added John (Stuffy) McInnis at first base in 1911 and created the $100,000 infield. The Giants paced the National League with such stars as Doyle, Merkle, Fletcher and Herzog, with Ames and Rube Mar-quard pitching alongside Matty. The A's won, 4-2, with Matty losing two games. Matty sent the Giants out front with a triumph in the opening battle.

This was the first of three successive appearances by the Giants, and as many defeats, in the fall classic. The Boston Red Sox, with "Smoky Joe" Wood pitching and an outfield that ranks with the best of all time—Duffy Lewis, Tris Speaker, and Harry Hooper—won 4-3 in 1912 with one tie game (11 innings).

This hard-fought series is remembered chiefly for a costly error, the dropping of a fly ball by Fred Snodgrass—a performance that aided Boston in winning the final game. This became known as the $50,000 muff, as it represented the difference between shares of receipts of the winning and losing teams.

The Giants were easy pickings for the Philadelphia A's in 1913, New York's only triumph coming on Matty's 10-inning shutout.

Hotel Cases Go For Trial Before Dutchess Court

Supreme Court Justice Schirick has filed a memorandum in the case of Ethel A. Rogers against Hotel Syracuse, Inc., and in four other companion cases consolidating all of the actions so that they might be tried together in Dutchess county.

The cases all arise from claims made by the several plaintiffs against the Hotel Syracuse, Inc., of Syracuse, because of the alleged negligence of that hotel in the operation and maintenance of an elevator in its building which is claimed to have fallen from the seventh story thereof to the basement and as a result of which, a number of persons sustained personal injuries.

The accident occurred during the time of the American Legion convention in that city on September 4, 1936. The different plaintiffs commenced action in three different counties, two of the actions pending in Dutchess county, two in Albany county, and one in Otsego county.

The defendant hotel moved at the September special term not only to consolidate the five actions into one so that they might be tried together, but to change the venue of the trial of the actions from Dutchess county, where two of the cases are pending, to Onondaga county, the place of business of the hotel corporation.

It was claimed by the plaintiffs that the greater number of witnesses reside a great distance from Syracuse, the majority of them living in and about Poughkeepsie, and that it would be unjust and inequitable to compel these plaintiffs to prosecute their action in Onondaga county. No serious objection was raised to the consolidation of the actions.

The court granted the motion for the consolidation but held that the place of trial should be in Dutchess county, and in so determining, wrote the following memorandum:

"This is a motion for a consolidation of action. There is no doubt in the mind of the court that the cases should be consolidated. Incidental to the consolidation, however, is the problem of the venue of the consolidated action.

The most serious injuries are those sustained by the plaintiff Ethel Rogers. Because of her physical condition and peculiar circumstances, it would be an obvious hardship to compel her to attend trial at a place over two hundred miles from her home and the residence of the witnesses whom she requires.

The court's conclusion is that the ends of justice will be best promoted by a trial of the consolidated action in Dutchess County."

Arthur B. Ewig, of Cashin and Ewig, of Kingston, argued the motion in behalf of the plaintiff, Ethel A. Rogers.

The defendants were represented by John E. Mack, of Poughkeepsie, former Supreme Court Justice, and P. C. Dugan of Albany.

Area Food Group To Hold Meeting

Food dealers from Ulster and neighboring counties have been invited to attend a meeting in Chancellor's Hall, State Educational Building at Albany at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, it was announced today.

All local neighborhood individual food dealers and around the Capital District are asked to attend the session at which the proposed "Unfair Sales Act," will be presented to the dealers.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Capital District Associated Retail Grocers in conjunction with the New York State Food Merchants Association. Dealers from Albany, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Montgomery, Fulton, Schenectady, Schoharie, Ulster, Orange and Dutchess counties are expected to attend.

The "Unfair Sales Act," is designed to outlaw unsound sales practices, which have threatened the price structure.

Prisoners' Bus Stops in City

A Greyhound bus load of prisoners, handcuffed in pairs, created much interested attention when it stopped in front of the court house this morning.

A number of guards accompanied the some 30 odd prisoners and gave the impression by their extreme apparent distrust of bystanders and curt answer to inquiries that they had a very desperate lot of criminals on their hands.

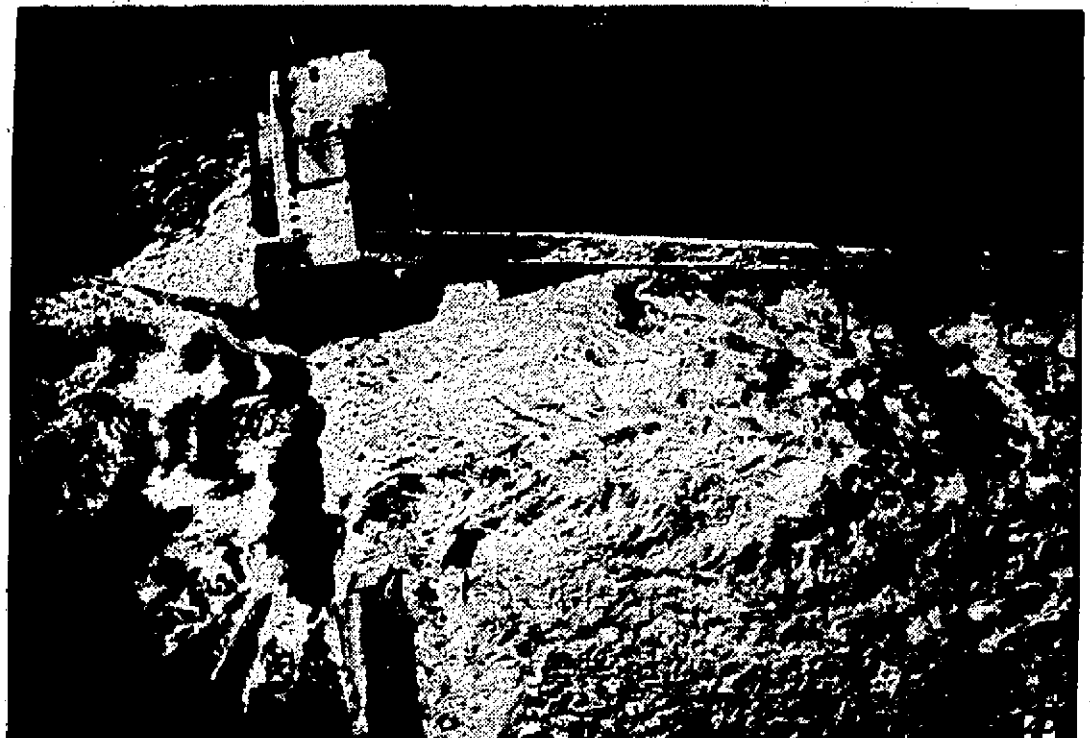

Inquiries elsewhere brought the information that the men, with the exception of one man from the Wallkill Prison, were being transferred from the prison at Woodbourne and that there was nothing unusual about the proceeding. It is understood that they were being taken north.

Scant Attention

Rome, Sept. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt's appeal to Reichsmarer Adolf Hitler and President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia for peace received scant attention in Fascist circles today. Fascists regarded it as showing sympathetic interest in the maintenance of peace, but seeming to contribute little to the solution of the Czechoslovak problem.
